

II Corinthians 5:14-15 (KJV)

For the love of Christ constraineth us;
because we thus judge,
that if one died for all, then were all dead:
And that he died for all, that they which live
should not henceforth live unto themselves,
but unto him (unto him) which died for them,
(which died for them) and rose again

To live for Jesus - that's why I am alive 14 and 15 of 2nd Corinthians 5
It's His love - that makes me want to live for Him
He died for me then rose again

For the love of Christ constraineth us;
because we thus judge,
that if one died for all, then were all dead:
And that he died for all, that they which live
should not henceforth live unto themselves,
but unto him (unto him) which died for them,
(which died for them) and rose again
but unto him (unto him) which died for them,
(which died for them) and rose again
